Makes Legion Pledge For Nation's Security

New Commander Is for Having Voice in Political and Social Life

Philadelphia, Sept. 2 (AP)—The American Legion's new national commander—40-year-old George N. Craig of Brazil, Ind.—stood pledged today to make that organization "an important voice in the nation's political and social life."

The Hoosier lawyer—the first World War 2 veteran ever named to head the Legion—was chosen yesterday in a nip-and-tuck race with three other candidates. The job pays $15,000 annually and carries with it a $35,000 expense allowance.

Philadelphia, its streets washed clean of Legion literature resumed quiet normalcy today after four days of serious discussion, speechmaking, politicking and parading that marked the Legion's 51st national convention.

The funmakers are gone. No longer does the noise of firecrackers and miniature cannon echo on downtown streets.

No longer do Legionnaires frighten women by dangling rubber lizards and mice in their faces.

The convention's over—1950 is next. And in November the Legion's National Executive Committee will decide where the 32nd convocation will be. Los Angeles, Boston and New York are bidding for the site.

Craig rolled into office on thumping majorities given him by a half dozen of the Legion's biggest state departments—Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Indiana and New York.

The new leader, surrounded by a host of older comrades, accepted the responsibility of "making the Legion an important voice in the nation's political and social life."

"My generation has already carried the responsibility of national security in time of war," Craig said. "And now we join, in unity of purpose, our older comrades in promoting and safeguarding those principles necessary for our continued strength and prosperity as a nation."

An estimated 60,000 Legionnaires attended the mammoth convocation which retiring National Commander Philip Brown, Beaumont, Tex., called "the best in our long and colorful history."

But the convention's business job was handled by 6,700 delegates and alternates. They sorted through more than 1,000 resolutions.

The Legion took these stands:

1. The U. S. should retain atomic energy under civilian control, and not share the atom secrets with any nation, including our allies.
2. Aid to China Nationalists fighting Communism.
3. Curtailment "as far as possible" of any further immigration at the present time.
4. Approval of universal military training and end of the present draft law.
5. Establishment of a national air academy.
6. Endorsement of a self-help plan to bring new jobs, industry and housing to the nation's cities and towns.
7. The Communist Party should be outlawed.

City Hall to Close

All offices in the city hall, except the police department, will be closed all day Saturday, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced today. This is to allow a longer holiday week-end, the mayor said.

Heavy Traffic Is Expected During Labor Day Period

Indications Are Highways Will Be Busy Today; Monday's Travel to Hit Peak

A heavy flow of traffic to resort areas was expected over all main routes and through the city by late this afternoon, but the influx today, police sources indicated, will be considerably lighter than the general exodus of vacationists and week-enders from the region Monday.

The New York State Bridge Authority said today that past experience for "this particular holiday" indicates that travel to the resort areas from the metropolitan district is likely to start as early as noon and reach a peak by late afternoon or early evening.

Sunday will undoubtedly be an exceptionally light day for travel over the three Hudson River bridges, the authority indicated, but that of Monday, based on past records, will probably be the heaviest of the year.

Bus companies said extra sections would be added to all afternoon runs from the metropolitan area and it was expected that from 12 to 15 buses would be used on afternoon and evening runs from the city.

Police Protection

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said patrolmen were stationed this morning at all major intersections, including the Rondout creek bridge, Broadway and East Chester street, Broadway and Pine Grove, Hasbrouck avenue and East Chester, and at main uptown intersections.

The men will cover the intersections in two shifts. They began at 10 a. m. and the second shift is scheduled to start at 6 p. m., remaining until needed, and then returning to regular posts.

The West Shore Division of the New York Central had no special arrangements for extra trains or sections, but expected heavy travel on the Hudson River train which is scheduled on Fridays throughout the summer to leave Weehawken at 5:30 p. m. standard time, and which arrives here at 7:30 p. m. standard time.

Robeson Marchers Demanding Probe Get Tomato Storm

Demonstration Is Halted by Albany Police; Baritone Slates Concert

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—Booing and shouting greeted about 200 "Paul Robeson" demonstrators who marched to the capital last night to demand a state probe of a riot near Peekskill. Later there were tomatoes.

Police halted the demonstration on the capital steps. Chief Philip Coffey said the crowd was becoming unruly.

Derisive shouts from the spectators, estimated by police at 3,000, drowned out the speakers.

The Albany chapter of the American Civil Rights Congress, sponsor of the demonstration, agreed to call off the program, Coffey said.

The tomato-throwing occurred when the marchers returned to their meeting place over a fruit stand in the room of the American Labor Party club. Most of the tomatoes hit walls and windows of the building.

The riot near Peekskill last Saturday night prevented Robeson, negro baritone, from singing at a picnic grove concert. Eight persons were injured in the clash between anti-Robeson veterans and the audience. Robeson was warned and stayed away.

Governor Dewey has called for a full report from Westchester county officials.

Robeson announced in New York last night that he would return to the Peekskill area for a concert Sunday. Peekskill veterans' groups said they would parade again in protest.

Robeson will sing Sunday under auspices of the "Westchester Committee for Law and Order," which described itself as a non-political group formed after last week-end's disturbance.

The concert is scheduled for 1 p. m. (E.S.T.) at the old Hollow Golf Club grounds, about four miles north of here. The golf course is on the same road and about a mile north of last Saturday's riot scene.

Three-Power Talks Wind Up Today on British Crisis

47 Degrees Last Night Is Lowest For the Summer

Some Rural Areas Report 40 on Thermometers; Big Change Since 98 Week-End

An overnight low temperature today of 47 degrees was the lowest to date this summer and the early morning hours were the coolest since early in June, according to the city engineer's records.

Temperatures as low as 40 were reported in the Woodstock area and an official of the New York city water department reported 42 degrees at the headworks of the Ashokan reservoir.

The change from the high of 98 degrees over last week-end was gradual through the week. August ended Wednesday with an overnight low of 63 degrees and a mild day throughout.

The week-end warm spell was broken by rain after the mercury had reached 98 last Friday and 96 Saturday and Sunday.

The Associated Press reported, meanwhile, that the eastern part of the country cooled off today as chilly breezes from the mid-west moved across the Ohio valley into the northern Atlantic states.

The mercury hit 32 degrees—freezing—at Phillipsburg, Pa. It was in the 30's in the higher elevations of Pennsylvania. Early morning lows included 40 at Binghamton, N. Y., 42 at Albany, N. Y., and 43 at Elkins, W. Va.

Meanwhile, the cool air over the plains and upper Mississippi valley was replaced by much warmer weather and readings in the 80's were forecast today.

Residents of western, central and northern New York cleaned up debris today in the wake of a windstorm that roared across the Great Lakes and through the St. Lawrence valley.

Chills up to 50 miles an hour hit Buffalo yesterday. Small boats were smashed in Lake Erie. Electric wires and tree limbs fell. Telephone and electric service was disrupted in many areas. Several persons were injured.

At Rochester, gusts up to 50 miles an hour blew down tents at the Monroe county fair. The same thing happened at the Clinton county fairgrounds at Plattsburgh, in the northeastern corner of the state. Outdoor movie screens toppled at Malone and Massena.

Richard Mehnke, 55, of New Rochelle, suffered burns and electrical shock when his automobile struck a tree and poverline which fell across a highway seven miles east of Rochester. His condition was described as "fair" by General Hospital attendants.

Six-Point Attack Is Outlined to Get Nation Out of Dollar Rut

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—A tentative six-point plan for helping Britain out of its financial crisis is expected today from final discussions of American, British and Canadian fact-finding officials.

Representatives of the three governments have been meeting twice daily for the past week to explore the problem. They hope to complete an agenda today that will permit their foreign ministers next week to discuss these points:

1. Reducing further British purchases from the United States and increasing buying in non-dollar areas wherever possible.
2. Streamlining American customs rules to encourage more British exports to send their goods to the United States.
3. Easing provisions of the 1946 British loan agreement to permit Britain to slow up purchases of American goods in favor of those non-dollar countries.
4. Boosting American purchases of British commonwealth tin and rubber. The United States has been buying limited quantities to stockpile for an emergency.
5. Increasing economic help to southeast Asian members of the British commonwealth to ease their demands on Britain's scarce dollar supply. The countries involved are reported to be India, Pakistan, and Malaya, along with Burma which is no longer in the commonwealth.
6. Calling a new tariff cutting conference some time next year to reduce duties on British exports to the United States.

The steps are intended as stop-gap measures to ease the drain on Britain's dwindling reserves. But officials agree they will not by themselves solve Britain's long-range problem: its inability to earn enough dollars to pay for what it buys from the United States and Canada.

The basic solution to this 14 believed to be an intensive drive by the Labor Government to reduce British production costs and thus make it easier for British products to compete in the world market.

This long-range problem will be handed to the foreign and finance ministers of the three governments meeting here Sept. 7 to study the dollar-pound crisis.

Despite the progress made at the fact-finding talks, officials of the three governments are still pessimistic about the chances of finding any long-range solution at the current meetings.

"This far, officials said, there has been no mention of the possibility of devaluing the pound sterling—a move most American officials believe is necessary if Britain is to reverse its economic slump quickly."

Slot Machine King May Take Stand in 5 Per Cent Probe

Sen. McCarthy Insists That Frank Costello Be Called; Day of Middleman Comes to End

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he will insist that Frank Costello of New York, reputed "slot machine king," be called as a witness in the Senate investigation of "five percenters."

"I think Costello is a very necessary and important witness," McCarthy told a reporter today.

McCarthy is a member of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee which has been digging into the question of whether there has been improper influence in letting of federal contracts. He has mentioned Costello's name several times during the hearings.

On one occasion, McCarthy asked Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, whether Vaughan got any campaign funds from Costello.

At that time, McCarthy called Costello "the gangster."

Vaughan had testified that in 1946 he received "probably $2,000" from John Maragon for use in the Missouri Democratic campaign. He said he was under the impression that Maragon, man-about-Washington, had received the money from others.

McCarthy wanted to know if any of it came from Costello. Vaughan said he had never even heard of Costello and that he was sure none of the money came from him.

Later, McCarthy by questions linked Costello with Phil Kasel and William Helis as partners in a liquor firm. He pressed Vaughan about any contacts with or campaign donations from them.

Vaughan said he knew nothing about any such liquor firm. He said he got $2,000 or $3,000 in campaign contributions from (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Pfeiffer, G.O.P. Boss Asks Vaughan Removal

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—Rep. William L. Pfeiffer, state Republican chairman, today called on President Truman to dismiss his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan.

Pfeiffer told the President in a letter that Vaughan's removal was "tantamount to the best interest of our country."

Referring to Vaughan's testimony before the Senate's five percenters investigating committee, Pfeiffer wrote the President: "You as Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces are responsible to the people and this disgraceful episode certainly requires you to act accordingly."

Pfeiffer said he also had written to Paul E. Fitzpatrick, Democratic state chairman, urging him to join in a removal request to the President.

Resigns G.O.P. Post

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Robert W. Macaulay, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee and director of its women's division, is leaving the post October 1. Chairman George Gabrielson announced today that he is accepting "with deep regret" the resignation which she submitted August 18. She is staying through this month at Gabrielson's request.

Make It Safe

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—The State Director of Safety appealed today to motorists and swimmers to "make this Labor Day week-end the safest in our history."

Recalling that drownings and traffic accidents caused 43 deaths over the Fourth of July holiday, Thomas W. Ryan declared:

"It is the responsibility of every individual in the Empire state to eliminate this frightful slaughter, masquerading under the name of holiday recreation."

Welcome Gen. Handy

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 2 (AP)—Gen. Thomas T. Handy arrived here today to succeed Gen. Lucius D. Clay as commander-in-chief of the United States European Command. In his new post, General Handy heads all the American Army, Navy and Air Forces in Europe. This unification of command was emphasized in the colorful military reception which greeted him at Frankfurt's Rheinmain Airport. Honor guards from all three branches of defense services were lined up in smart review as cannons boomed a 17-gun salute. John J. McCloy, U. S. military governor in Germany, joined military chiefs in welcoming him.

Payroll Robbery

Bremen, Ga., Sept. 2 (AP)—Three men held up a payroll messenger of the Sevel Manufacturing Company today and escaped with between $24,000 and $25,000. Police Chief Emmett Gray said the trio, riding in a green car, forced a company truck off a road. One of the men held a gun on the driver, Bill Gallman, while a second man removed the payroll. The women employees of the company were in the truck with Gallman.

Dispute on Salvation Still Continues Despite Rome Note

Boston, Sept. 2 (AP)—A five months dispute between the Boston hierarchy and a Roman Catholic group over whether there is salvation outside the Catholic Church still appeared unsettled today despite a Vatican ruling upholding Archbishop Richard J. Cushing.

The decision was announced by Archbishop Cushing in "The Pilot," official publication of the Boston Catholic Archdiocese. The announcement said the ruling was made by the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office, over which the Pope presides.

The controversial group, led by the Rev. Leonard J. Feeney, S.J., has persisted in the contention non-Catholics could not be saved. The church holds otherwise.

The Sacred Congregation ruling ended with a solemn warning to Fr. Feeney's adherents to abandon their position immediately "at the peril of their souls."

Fr. Feeney indicated he would stand pat pending an Ex Cathedra announcement from the Pope himself.

The group has held to its position in face of a stern interdict against their organization—St. Benedict's Center—and the "slandering" of Fr. Feeney.

Referring to the group's stand, the letter from the sacred congregation declared:

"x x x It is clear that the doctrine presented (by the group) x x x as genuine Catholic teachings is far from being such, and can do nothing but grave harm to those who are in the church and to those outside it."

The communication from the Vatican also named Fr. Feeney and strongly criticized him for his part in the controversy.

Early Inhabitants of World Are Unearthed in Wyoming

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Extensive remains of a primitive group of hunters, who roamed the American west thousands of years before Christ's birth, have been unearthed near Cody, Wyo., it was disclosed here today.

Dr. Loren Eiseley of the University of Pennsylvania said the Wyoming camp site probably dates back to between 5,000 and 12,000 years before Christ.

He called the find one of the most important ever made in connection with the culture of the Yuma, the nomadic group who disappeared centuries ago as a cultural unit. They were among the earliest known inhabitants of the New World.

Dr. Eiseley estimated that the ancient camp site covered about 600 square feet of a terrace overlooking Sage creek, five miles northeast of Cody.

The valuable deposit of tools, weapons and food remains were preserved through the centuries by dusty desert sands, now covering the camp site to a depth of about 10 inches.

The Yuma were foot hunters who roved the high plains of the American west in search of bison. Evidence of their existence have been found before. Dr. Eiseley said, but never so extensively as in a deposit that may enable scientists to fix more accurately the period in which they lived.

For example, he said, from the bison bones on the site it may be possible to determine whether the Yuma lived before certain types of bison became extinct late in the ice age.

No human bones were found. There were numerous "Yuma points," delicately fashioned flints that apparently tipped Yuma javelins. It is believed the Yuma did not use bow and arrow.

There is no evidence that they (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

Krumville Man Commits Suicide

Kurt Boettcher Shoots Self With Shotgun Thursday; Motive Is Lacking

Kurt Boettcher, 59, of Krumville committed suicide Thursday morning by shooting himself with a 12-gauge shotgun, Coroner Arthur Chipp reported.

The body was discovered in a field behind an unused chicken coop near Boettcher's home about 3:30 p. m. by Mrs. Joan Grab, Boettcher's housekeeper, and another woman, Mrs. Hummel, also of Krumville, the coroner said. The man had been last seen alive about 7:30 a. m. and the time of death was estimated at between 8 and 9 a. m.

Coroner Chipp said that Boettcher apparently held the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and pulled the trigger. The gun, a double-barrel shotgun, had been loaded in both barrels but only one shot fired, the coroner reported.

No reason for the suicide has been learned as yet by authorities who are investigating. Boettcher had been in apparently good health, Coroner Chipp said. His wife died about one year ago.

After they discovered the body, the two women sent word to a neighbor, Lester Barringer, who telephoned the sheriff's office in Kingston.

Boettcher has no immediate relatives in this country. He is survived by one brother, Arthur Boettcher, of Germany, with whom he had carried on regular correspondence. A brother-in-law, Jacob Mueller of Elmhurst, Ill., arrived in Krumville today to make funeral arrangements.

Studying Diary Of Barsov Views

U. S. Officials Anxious to Find Out About His Switching Sides

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—A diary ostensibly penned by Anatole Barsov is being studied by State Department translators for possible light on why the former Soviet flier twice switched sides in the cold war.

Officials said the diary and other notes were recovered from the hotel room where Barsov lived in Washington.

The diary is reported to deal in part with Barsov's early impressions of America after he arrived here in February with Peter Pirogov, a fellow Soviet aviator. Suspicious translators indicated, however, they are not sure the handwriting is Barsov's.

The two men flew a Russian plane into the U. S. occupation zone of Austria last October. They said they were disillusioned as to Soviet life and wanted to go to the United States. They were allowed to enter this country in February.

But two weeks ago American authorities returned Barsov to Austria and this week turned him over to Russian officials at his own request. The Soviet embassy said he had come to it in July and declared he "repented" his desertion of the Soviet Union and wished to return there.

Pirogov is remaining in this country.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, Sept. 2 — It is announced that the annual parade and inspection of the Ellenville Fire Department, scheduled for September 10, will be the most elaborate firemen's event in Ellenville since the county affair in 1938. Benjamin Litchrod, parade marshal, states that the parade will start promptly at 3 p. m. The program will include the award of three loving cups, a hose-laying contest and a block dance.

Fire which burned five buildings on the Luxor Manor Hotel property at Briggs Street Saturday morning did damage estimated by Mrs. Rose Keiner at $30,000. Based in loss than half an hour were a 12-room building occupied by the hotel help, an attached laundry, garage, stable and attached sto and a warehouse. Volunteers were able to save the main building by placing wet blankets on the roof. Under the ruling of the Ellenville Fire Council, which limits use of the apparatus to the village limits except for mutual aid calls, the Ellenville department could not respond to the call for aid.

Not only has the work on the new two-story and basement wing of the Veterans Memorial Hospital been carried on with notable speed under contractor Ellsworth McDole, but according to one informant, "in the know," a fine showing is being made in the matter of cost. The writer was told that the foundation work showed a saving of 31 per cent over the estimate. Work of pouring the foundations, which stand eight feet high, was completed last Friday afternoon in about four hours and a quarter. This covers foundations 18 inches thick for the two 60-foot sides and the 40-foot wing and end. Mr. McDole said that at the end of the third week of work this job was a week ahead of what had been estimated. He added that they expected to begin the brick work first part of the coming week.

The "tail-end of the hurricane" storm which visited this area Sunday night was marked mostly by a much needed rainfall—1.1 inches, according to the New York Board of Water Supply gauge—with some further rain Monday forenoon. Telephone service was interrupted for less than 100 phones, with damage was repaired by Monday afternoon and there was little interruption of electric service.

Harold P. Ross, 49, former state trooper, chief of the Ellenville Police Department from 1927 until 1932, and since the latter date principal keeper of the Walkkill Medium Security Prison, died at Walkkill early Monday morning from a heart attack. He made many friends while in Ellenville and a frequently expressed tribute to him was he "is a gentleman."

Chief of Police Richard A. Porter, who succeeded Mr. Ross here, attended the funeral services in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Walkkill, Wednesday morning. Others from here attending were Mayor Henry L. Schipp, Patrolman Abram Rand, Mrs. Edwin Fuller, Percy Krom and Lloyd Wilkowi. Mr. Ross is survived by his wife and one daughter, Betsy, of Walkkill.

Aut Eater Clears Drain

Scottsdale, Tasmania (AP)—The usual tools were useless to clear a length of 9-inch pipe clogged with dirt by rains. But the job got done in 15 minutes when a spiny ant-eater, usually mislabeled the Echidna, was persuaded to enter the pipe. It is one of the world's two pipe-eating mammals, the other being the Platypus. These two are the world's most primitive furred animals. With its steely claws the spiny ant-eater can burrow with remarkable speed—even straight down, in hard earth.

Lifts Miner to Safety

Kalgoorlie, West Australia (AP)—A gold miner here was incautious. There was an explosion 70 feet away. His mates rushed in expecting to find him shattered. He was merely dazed. The explosion had lifted him bodily, and the flying rocks had passed under him. He was, however, severely peppered by small bits, which had forced pieces of dung and fecal matter beneath his skin. Blood poisoning resulted but he recovered.

No Word on Insects

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today he had not received word from the New Jersey laboratory on the identification of an unusual insect, which is currently invading various sections of the city. The mayor requested the laboratory to forward information on the insect as well as means for exterminating it. The invasion was brought to light through Ninth Ward Alderman Paul J. Schatzel when residents of the ward complained that they were coming into houses. Later reports indicated they were prevalent elsewhere in the city.

Truman, Dewey

the state C.I.O. convention at Saratoga Springs Sept. 10. Louis Hollander, state C.I.O. chairman, backed Lehman yesterday. Martin T. Lacey, head of the A.F.L. Central Trades and Labor Council, who had opposed Lehman's acceptance of Liberal party backing, said in a statement, however, that "it is gratifying that he will support the Democratic candidates."

Lacey is opposed to the Liberal party's support of Newbold Morris, a Republican, in the New York city mayoralty campaign.

Test for 1950

Strategists in both parties regard the election as a political barometer of national and state significance. The result, they feel, may be a tip-off on the 1950 congressional and state elections.

Governor Dewey, whose second term expires next year, is expected to be influenced by this fall's Senate outcome in deciding whether to try to stay in public office.

Dewey's first election in 1942 ended 20 years of reign by Democratic governors in New York. The Democrats feel a victory for Lehman in November would put them on the high road toward a return to the executive mansion in Albany.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick, Democratic state chairman, said "We are planning a vigorous campaign in his (Lehman's) behalf that will be carried into every section of the state."

President May Stump

President Truman hinted yesterday that he might come into New York state to campaign for Lehman. He told a news conference he would decide after the primaries Tuesday.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is expected to do some campaigning for Lehman, the millionaire investment banker who succeeded her husband as governor of New York.

The G.O.P. state chairman, Rep.

IMPERIAL ONE—Lycurgus Spinks, above, has been named Imperial Emperor of a new Ku Klux Klan organization in Montgomery, Ala. Spinks, who last year was defeated in his race for governor of Mississippi, has been making speeches at Klan rallies in Alabama.

William L. Pfeiffer, told the Associated Press today the Republicans would wage an intensified campaign, not only for the Senate but for mayors and county offices to be filled in the "off-year" election.

Pfeiffer, undertaking his first state campaign, declared he would "call on all Republicans from within and without the state" to help produce a G.O.P. triumph.

Pfeiffer said he would ask Dewey and other members of the state administration to take the stump.

Slot Machine King

Hells in 1946, but that his understanding was that Hells had collected the money from Greek-Americans friendly to the Democratic cause.

Hells is a New Orleans oil man and racing figure. Today, McCarthy said he wants to ask Costello "about a number of things that have cropped up in the investigation but I can't disclose them now or it would foul things up."

The Senate hearings are in recess now, probably for about a month. Meantime, the staff and investigators are running down a number of tips and collecting data that may be disclosed later at public sessions.

Government agencies are moving to shut their doors against five percenters.

Chairman Hoyer (D-N. C.) of the Senate investigating committee recessed the inquiry yesterday for at least a month while the staff studies the evidence taken thus far.

The government's chief purchasing officer, Jess Larson, assured the senators before the hearings closed that the middle-man in government contracting is on the way out.

Larson, who heads the new Government Services Administration, testified that he, Secretary of Defense Johnson and Budget Director Frank Pace had worked out a plan to make direct contracting easier for small businessmen.

No New Polio Cases

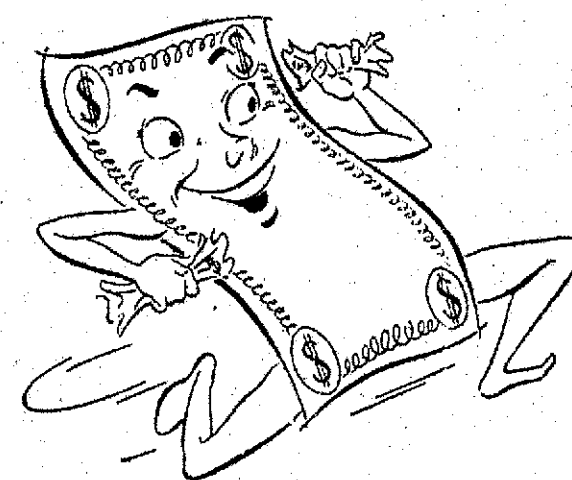

The county health department said today that no new polio cases had been reported and that the county total to date is still 34 cases. Favorable reports were given on two victims of the disease at Kingston Hospital and one at the Benedictine Hospital.

Dispute Continues

The letter said, "How a member of a religious society, namely Father Feeney, can present himself as a 'defender of the faith' and at the same time not hesitate to attack the ecclesiastical teaching proposed by legitimate authorities, and not even fear to bring upon himself the weighty sanctions of Canon law, leveled against his grave violations of duty as a religious, as a priest, and as an ordinary member of the church."

The censure apparently referred to Fr. Feeney's vigorous public attacks on archdiocesan leaders including Archbishop Cushing and the Most Rev. John J. Wright, auxiliary bishop.

Fr. Feeney told newsmen he might go personally to Rome to present his case to Pope Pius XII, adding "but I don't have the travel money that some of the Boston hierarchy have."

The 52-year-old Jesuit priest, noted as an author, poet and lecturer, said he had not seen the letter mentioned by the archbishop. He said the letter in The Pilot was "partially quotes and partially composed."

According to Archbishop Cushing's announcement, the Sacred Congregation met in plenary session July 27 to consider the controversy which has been raging since last April.

The letter read, in part:

"This Sacred Congregation is convinced that the unfortunate dispute is due to an insufficient study and understanding of the well-known dictum 'extra ecclesiam nulla salus' (no salvation outside the church). And that the dispute has been rendered more acrimonious because of the serious disturbance of discipline occasioned by the refusal of some members of the aforementioned group to obey and obey duly constituted authority."

It called the center's teachings "inconsistent" with the pronouncements of Pope Pius XII.

The center is operated as a Catholic study group near Harvard University yard in Cambridge.

Both, he believes, may have been the remote ancestors of the latter-day American Indians.

An expedition began its work on the Cody site last August 5 under the direction of Dr. Glenn Johnson, Sinclair professor of geology at Princeton University, Princeton sponsored the exploration.

Aim Is 'Peaceful Front' Communist Testifies

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—No matter what it's called, a rose still is a rose, and says a Red leader, that is how things are with the Communist party in America.

Testifying in the Red conspiracy trial yesterday, Carl Winter, the party's Michigan state chairman, contended that the Communist party by any other name has the same objectives.

He denied the government's charges that a change in the party's name in 1945 marked a switch from a peaceful policy to one of advocating violent revolution.

At their national convention that year, the Communists renamed their party the "Communist Party of the U. S.," dropping the label "Communist Political Association," which had been adopted a year earlier.

The 11 defendants are accused of conspiring to advocate forceful overthrow of the government since the 1945 change.

Winter maintained that since that time, the party has sought, as it did before, to establish by peaceful means a "people's front" for socialism in the United States.

He denied the Communist Political Association was "dissolved."

Sells 1600 Miles on Tug To Dentist's Office

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 2 (AP)—A toothache can become a pain in the neck when you're 1,600 miles from the nearest dentist.

For Mrs. Adolphus Norris of Aklavik, N. W. T., it meant a three-week trip up the Mackenzie river to Edmonton by tug boat.

When she suffered a severe toothache, her husband packed her and their two daughters aboard the tug which he uses in his trading business, and set out for Edmonton, 1,600 miles south.

After a 1,100-mile water trip and a 500-mile jaunt by bus, the Norrises arrived in an Edmonton dentist's office. Just for good measure they are all getting their teeth fixed.

Norris hopes to make the return trip in 10 days.

Proclamation

Don't Quit School

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today issued the following proclamation:

WHEREAS the people of our city are currently confronted with the problem of absorbing a substantial labor surplus because of the industrial transition period we are now experiencing, and

WHEREAS many of our young people are at present in the labor market, seeking employment through necessity or a desire to participate in family responsibilities, and

WHEREAS it is important that the education of these young boys and girls of school age be continued in order that in the future they may take their rightful place in industry, business and the professions

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Oscar V. Newkirk, Mayor of the City of Kingston, respectfully request all citizens to urge all high school age boys and girls to return to school and resume their studies this fall because the best weapon of youth in a competitive market is a good education.

Ellenville Man Is Named Prison Warden

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—Edward M. May, will become warden of Greenhaven State Prison in Dutchess county September 16 and prepare the $8,000,000 institution for its official opening October 1.

Fay was appointed yesterday on a provisional basis by Correction Commissioner John A. Lyons. The starting salary is $6,385 annually, plus maintenance.

Fay, 53, is assistant superintendent of the State Institution for Defective Delinquents at Woodbourne.

The Greenhaven prison was built in 1941 and was to have been opened in the spring of 1942. The state let the army use it as a military detention institution during the war, however.

The army returned the prison two years ago, but the opening was delayed because the number of imprisoned felons had dropped. It is needed now to relieve overcrowding in other prisons, Lyons said.

Greenhaven is considered practically escape-proof, or, as Lyons described it, "a maximum security prison." It has a capacity of 2,000—the same as that of Attica State Prison, after which it was modeled.

A permanent warden will be appointed from a civil service eligibility list, after examinations are held. Fay was the top man on the expired list.

He is a native of Ellenville.

Dr. Arthur Brunn Dies; Spoke Here

Funeral services for Dr. Arthur Brunn, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Brooklyn, for more than 45 years, were held Wednesday from that church. Dr. Brunn died August 27.

Dr. Brunn had occupied the pulpit of the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, this city, for several festival occasions. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte, pastor of the local church, attended the funeral services this week.

The Brooklyn pastor had been a vice president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod for the past nine years. Previously, he had been the president of the Atlantic District of his synod for 12 years.

He also was a member of the board of directors of Concordia College in Bronxville, an associate editor of the American Lutheran Magazine and a member of various boards and committees in the synod at large and in his district.

More than 75 clergymen from the New York area and from wider circles in the church attended the services. The funeral sermon was delivered by the Rev. John W. Behnen of Chicago, president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Landslides, Floods Follow Japan Typhoon

Tokyo, Sept. 2 (AP)—Landslides and floods in the wake of a violent typhoon boosted the death toll of Japan to 95 today.

The latest national police estimate was 417 injured and 40 missing. More than 50,000 were homeless in the Tokyo-Yokohama area because of floods or because of landslides or because the typhoon smashed their dwellings.

Heavy rain fell throughout the day. It was the heavy rainfall, not overflowing rivers, which caused the floods in low areas of Tokyo.

Backed up water halted all rail traffic between Tokyo and Yokohama, stranding large numbers of commuters.

The Tone river, which threatens Tokyo with flooding, ran bank full.

Nine of the additional deaths reported today were caused by a landslide near Arawa, northwest of Tokyo.

The typhoon hit this populous area of Japan yesterday.

Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—Vice Mayor John J. Whalen became acting mayor of Yonkers yesterday upon the resignation of Mayor Curtis E. Frank. Frank, who had served nearly six years, announced several weeks ago that he was resigning to enter private business. Frank's term expires December 31.

CONSERVATION PROBLEMS

The steady exhaustion of the world's natural resources in the face of mounting population drew a lot of attention last year, largely because two extremely readable books on the subject were published.

How to protect failing resources and develop new ones still does not command, however, the time and thought it deserves in parliaments and cabinets throughout the world. Lawmakers here and abroad manage to talk about everything but conservation—one of the most elemental factors in world political and economic life.

But now, fortunately, the United Nations is delving into conservation and population problems. Some 400 scientists from 50 countries are gathered in a three-week conference devoted to the question of how to stop the rapid depletion of vital resources and bring them in line with population needs. The meeting is a healthy sign.

After the books by William Vogt and Fairfield Osborn appeared last year, they were branded by some people as "alarmist." Some rather strained efforts were made to disprove their thesis—that population may soon outrun the essentials of life.

None of these attempts tried to deny population growth or the dwindling of resources in soil, timber, minerals and the like. Instead, they pinned hope on science and technology to save the situation before starvation and similar crises develop.

Anyone must wish this will occur, for otherwise the outlook is dark indeed. Osborn told the U.N. conferences of scientists that the world's population will soar from the present two billion to three billion in fifty years. And a Canadian mineral resources chief warned that the time may not be far off when our best known sources of key materials will be used up.

With the staggering potentialities of atomic energy on the horizon, it would be foolish to predict that the world will not be bailed out of this tightening dilemma. Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary-general, told the delegates a fuller use of science in developing resources might lead to successful support of a vastly expanded population at a much higher standard of living than now prevails.

Yet the fear lingers that lost resources may never quite be matched. Many of the depleted materials were high grade, easy to mine or use, relatively close to population centers where they were needed.

We may be able to put amazing new life in worn-out soils; to devise synthetics and other substitutes; to extract great untapped mineral stores from remote places, or to refine low-grade ores now commercially unusable.

But who can be confident that these answers, however ingenious, will not be much more costly than we would like? Unless atomic furnaces bring us remarkably cheap power, a lower standard of living will be the outcome.

The world will welcome all the benefits science can yield. But meantime lawmakers everywhere ought to put conservation high on their agenda, as a hedge against a future that may not be quite as bright as the so blithely imagine.

BOYS IN MARKEN

The innate conservatism of the Dutch people is carried to an extreme on the island of Marken in the Zuider Zee, where boys and girls are dressed alike until they are eight years old.

Some say the custom dates back to the time of the Spanish invasion, when the Spaniards threatened to take all the boys away. Dressed as girls, they escaped this fate. Others, claiming motives of economy, say it is just easier to lengthen dresses than trousers. Whatever the reason, the boys present an unusual picture in their full skirts, long curls, and ruffled bonnets. They are glad to end their masquerade when they reach the age of emancipation.

American boys, in their soft shirts and comfortable shorts, would find it hard to believe that these doll-like creatures were

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE LIBERAL DILEMMA

There used to be a word, "reformer," for people who wanted change but not too great a change and who, while they opposed the direction in which their world was moving, were uncertain what they preferred. Reformers were usually good people, sweet and gentle. In politics, they were sometimes a nuisance because, lost loose in that lush field, they often became as bad or worse than those whom they sought to correct.

In the old New Deal, there were as many reformers as there were leftists, and usually they were taken in by the leftists, who used them as fronts for their viciousness. The reformers always claimed that they were only liberals who were trying to save the free enterprise system, but in their own way according to blueprints devised by the leftists.

Many of them now belong to a political pressure group called the A. D. A. which translated means "Americans for Democratic Action." They have captured the state of Connecticut by electing Chester Bowles to the governorship on the Democratic ticket and they expect in 1950 to capture the state of New York and California where they hope to run Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and James Roosevelt, respectively for governor, thus establishing a dynasty.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt feels that it is unfair to identify the A. D. A. with the Communists and in this I wholly agree. It is unfair to the Communists. For whereas the followers of Marx and Lenin and Stalin have a philosophy of life, the A. D. A. only desires to remain in public life. Mrs. Roosevelt's comment is:

"One might attack these ideas but to leave the impression that they are Communist or very much to the left seems to me unfair. Many times they are simply different ways of achieving the very same objectives."

What same objectives? For instance, those who believe that the United States is a republic, a federation of sovereign states in which the federal government possesses only such limited rights as the constitution permits it to exercise, all other rights being reserved by the states or the people thereof, and that each individual possesses inalienable rights which transcend the authority of government—certainly those who hold to that concept do not seek the same objectives as any kind of socialist.

Perhaps Mrs. Roosevelt feels that a philosophy of life is not very important, but that one must go along, day by day, doing whatever good he can, no matter how wrong it turns out in the end. That was Carrie Nation's notion when she used her hatchet to destroy beer saloons, and nobody can say that Carrie Nation was a bad woman, but her agitation did this country no good and ultimately brought us the reign of Al Capone.

Mrs. Roosevelt makes a further point that is quite startling. She says:

"For instance, the majority of business people at the time of the depression in 1933 wanted to save our capitalist system and bring us back to a state of prosperity where the system could be preserved. Many people may not approve of the methods used in the New Deal, but other methods had not been successful up to that time."

"The objective of both groups, however, was to achieve the same ends. You can criticize the way it was done, you can wish it had been possible to do it another way, but the fact remains that it did it. Our capitalist system has not failed."

But the fact is that the American economic system was altered by the New Deal into what the economists call a mixed economy, which is now being extended into the welfare state that is a form of Fabian socialism. All the statistics available in 1949 prove conclusively that the 1929 depression had reached its lowest point in June, 1932, and that the upturn had taken place prior to the election of that year, to be arrested by the election and the tinkering with the flow of currency during the economically unnecessary but politically expedient bank holiday. It is, indeed, a novel concept that Rexford Guy Tugwell, Henry Wallace and Harry Hopkins, to say nothing of the underground disclosed in the Alger Hiss case, were seeking to preserve capitalism.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

BLOOD PRESSURE AND BODY WEIGHT

It is known that overweight people have a greater tendency to high blood pressure than those of normal or less than normal weight. Many of us have read or heard of the little book "Life Begins at Forty"; other have heard that Oslar stated that men past 60 should be chloroformed. Oslar did not make the statement because the best mental work of outstanding inventors, musicians, professional men, authors has been done after the age of 60.

Referring to blood pressure and body weight it is interesting to know that the greatest number of heart strokes (coronary thrombosis) occur after 40 years of age and grow fewer after the age of 80.

In a series of cases reported from Finland the results showed that the average body weight in women increased as the blood pressure rose. Among those with high blood pressure considerable more overweight was found among those with normal blood pressure. More cases of high blood pressure were also found in women of excess weight than in those of normal weight.

In men, excess weight up to the age of 40 did not seem to affect the blood pressure. Similarly after the age of 60 excess weight did not seem to affect the blood pressure. However in the 40 to 59 age group, men with high blood pressure showed considerable more excess weight than men with normal blood pressure. And overweight men showed more tendency toward high blood pressure than those of normal weight.

Insurance companies have been pointing out for years that as excess weight accumulates the blood pressure rises and that increased blood pressure occurs more frequently in persons of excess weight than in other persons. A noted United States physician, Dr. Fishberg, has stated that the presence of overweight and high blood pressure in the same person is often due to hereditary predisposition to these two conditions.

The lesson from the above is that weight begins to increase and also the blood pressure at the age of 40, when "life begins," because more and richer food can be bought and less physical work is done or exercise taken. Less food and light exercise, such as walking, would help prevent gain in weight and rise in blood pressure.

boys like themselves. Put to the test, however, the Dutch boys could doubtless put up a good fight to prove their masculinity. Boys with curls have been known to develop a fierce aggressiveness which made them formidable to tormentors.

One thing that the average taxpayer never understands is why, despite the size of his tax bill, when some local improvement is proposed the officials always seem to say, "It would be nice, but we really haven't got the money."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington — British-American differences aren't the only strained relations worrying the State Department.

Behind the scenes, a trouble-breeding situation has developed with Brazil, our traditional South American ally.

Cause of the disturbing dispute is a loan—with reverse English. The Brazilians don't want the loan.

They hotly charge that the export-import bank is trying to "blackjack" them into taking a $200,000,000 loan they don't want. This is the Brazilians' story.

Brazil owes several hundred million dollars to U. S. firms and banks for purchases of equipment and other supplies in the past year. It is conceded payments have been slow. The Brazilians explain this is due to an acute dollar shortage, as a result of a very heavy decrease in the exports to the U. S.

The Brazilians say that if they can get a $40,000,000 loan to develop the vast, untapped resources of Minas Geraes, they can quickly expand their economy to meet their commercial debts. Also, that such a loan fits in squarely with President Truman's "Point Four" program.

But the export-import bank is refusing to consider this proposal until Brazil agrees to take the $200,000,000 loan.

In Rio De Janeiro, this has led to bitter feeling. Cries of "Yankee imperialism," "dollar diplomacy" and "Jungle Shylock" have been tossed around. In Washington, Ambassador Nabuco is more polite and discreet. But no bones are being made of the contention that a group of New York bankers and export firms are behind the insistence on the big loan.

Specifically, it is claimed that the Commerce & Industry Association of New York has pressured the export-import bank into demanding that Brazil sign up for the $200,000,000 in order to pay off its commercial debts.

The Brazilians are hinting President Dutra may take the issue directly to President Truman.

Note—Minas Geraes means "general mines" or "abundant minerals." The state is the richest in Brazil, also the most politically, owing to its great wealth. The proposed development loan has been under consideration for some time. Elaborate scientific and economic studies have been submitted and a special envoy, Dr. Barbosa Mello, was sent to Washington to work with Ambassador Nabuco to negotiate the loan.

Adding fuel to the situation is the fact that Milton Campos, governor of Minas Geraes, is a strong possibility as Dutra's successor next year. Campos is warring over what he considers deliberate U. S. refusal to aid the development of his state.

Peace, it's wonderful. An intriguing little drama was practically unnoticed at the opening banquet of the American Legion convention in Philadelphia.

Two old foes of the Roosevelt cabinet embraced and made up. They are Defense Secretary Louis Johnson and former Secretary of War Henry Woodring, who demanded his own associates.

After Johnson's appointment as defense secretary, newsman, recalling the Woodring feud, asked the latter for a statement. The reporters expected a blast. Instead, Woodring warmly commended his old rival and expressed the opinion he would do an outstanding job.

At the Legion banquet, Johnson, sitting at the head table, spotted Woodring on the floor. Rising, Johnson went to Woodring and greeted him warmly. Later, when Woodring left, he walked up to Johnson and bade him a cordial good-bye.

Peace, it's wonderful. Gael Sullivan, former executive director of the Democratic National Committee, now head of the Theatre Owners of America, is organizing a national film festival in October. The idea is for movie producers to release one or several of their best films during the month. J. Fruchtbaum, Buffalo, N. Y., consulting engineer, is one small-business man who has no complaint about getting service from government agencies without political influence. He says his firm has had no trouble obtaining desired data from the Commerce Department and E.C.A. . . . Ralph Helstein, president of the C.I.O. United Packinghouse Workers, wants the world to know that his union had no part in the "rump" leftist meeting in New York city on Tuesday. Helstein is anti-Communist and has been housecleaning his union of that element. . . . John C. Pickett, U. S. attorney in Cheyenne, has the backing of Senators Joe Mahoney and Lester Hunt, Wyo., for appointment to the Tenth District Federal Court of Appeals. . . . Dr. Raymond Allen, president of the University of Washington State, who is reorganizing the medical administrative setups of the military services, will integrate them into a centralized command. He will also recommend the commissioning of chiropractors. . . . Sen. Lister Hill, Ala., has received a big mail from constituents lauding him for leading the successful fight to save the President's big public power program. The Alabama Power & Light Company long opposed Hill, was one of the utilities that fought the President's program.

Truman's Mention of 'Surrender' in Cold War Is Tactless Way of Handling Russia

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 2.—There is reason for sadness on the tenth anniversary of the opening days of World War 2—sadness because the drift toward World War 3 is so unmistakably like the periods that preceded the other catastrophes.

Today the relations between Russia and the United States are supposed to be friendly in an official sense. Yet the prophecies which usually are observed in such intercourse are swept aside. The President of the United States recently called Russia an aggressor and recommended the arming of western Europe by using American funds. Now the President, when asked about the "cold war," says he expects it to end in "surrender" exactly as did the shooting war in 1945.

The word has caused dismay. How could there be a surrender in a cold war? The President declined to amplify or explain, leaving the impression that he wanted the word to stand and that implications derived from it might not be far away.

If a cold war is to end in a surrender, it can only mean that Russian opposition to the western world will collapse and that the Soviets are expected to come on bended knee to seek peace from the United States and the western allies.

The mere fact that the President of the United States, who possesses all the information, secret or otherwise, bearing on the international situation, talks so confidently about the eventual collapse of Russian resistance in the cold war is sensational.

Can it be that the Russian troubles with Tito and the inability of the Soviets to command discipline among the satellite states are regarded by the American government as a sign of weakness, if not disintegration?

Whatever the purpose of Mr. Truman's reference to surrender, it is obviously a military phrase and is in keeping with the official line that has been used in high circles recently. It is equally true that a word is found in the vocabulary of peace or diplomatic relations.

What appears on the surface is an almost complete blackout in the relations between Russia and the United States. Occasionally there is a visit by an ambassador, but usually only on some routine subjects. There is evidently no effort to find a better basis of relationship on over-all questions. The tendency seems to be to wait for Russia to become frightened over the military preparations of the Allies and to come meekly into the hands of nations and pursue a course of cooperation.

Such an illusion would appear to be out of keeping with that part of the oriental mind which characterizes Russian behavior—the long, long wait for a favorable turn of events, possibly American economic depression. Certainly it doesn't explain the obstreperous attitude of Russia heretofore. For, clearly, if Russia were unable to make good her threats and had not the slightest intention of keeping up her tactics of harassment, what she has done in Europe and in the Far East thus far would appear to have been wasted.

Unfortunately, in Washington much of the thinking is done on the assumption that the mobilization of military might is the only language the Russians understand. This might have been true of the czarist Russians and was true of Hitler. But the Soviets have been infiltrating in various countries in Europe and the Far East and the Communist ideology is a far more annoying weapon of attack now-days than any military weapons.

From the Allies are not strong. If the United States and Allies could be sure that the Russians do not intend to permit a shooting war to happen, the cost of military preparations here might be lessened. As it is, Russia holds the whip hand, having discovered how easy it is to scare and bluff America. Her spending nearly $17,000,000,000 a year on arms for this country and its allies.

One would think that the ingenuity of diplomacy would be invoked to bring an end to such an intolerable situation and that the same mental versatility in the western world which has brought so many fine achievements to mankind would discover a way to bring the Russians to live in peace with our nations, but to fling the word "surrender" at any proud nation as the price of negotiation doesn't seem to be the tactful way to persuade another government to let bygones be bygones and make a new start toward world peace.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 31.—There was dramatic contrast between Governor Dewey's instinctive political reaction to a fomented Communist riot near Peekskill and his iron composure in the presence of violent insurrection against government by a mob of union goons 10 days earlier in Buffalo.

In Peekskill, the Communist inspiration was apparent and the auspices were, for the time being, politically irreparable. Paul Robeson, a Negro spoiled by years of flattery and social toleration by white debauchees addicted to the "art" as a pretext for abandoned conduct, was going to bag a Communist demonstration of both sexes.

Veterans and other irresponsibles habitually inclined to take excessive virtue to themselves decided to prevent this. Accordingly, they paraded and Robeson, noted for his coy aloofness from actual violence, did not sing. Ructions ensued, no worse than routine atrocities incidental to affairs of the C.I.O.

At Buffalo, mobs of goons belonging to the United Auto Workers crashed into the Bell Aircraft plant, assaulted citizens working at law, indeed, patriotic, occupational, for they were on war production, broke locks, damaged property and put down the law. Peace was restored only by the abdication of government to the usual felonious violence of the goons.

In the midst of this anarchy, the sheriff cried for help and was correctly admonished by Dewey to quit whining, deputize as many citizens as he had need to, and do his duty. Mr. Dewey specified the section which gave the sheriff plenty of power to deputize and to make the deputies fight or be punished for failure. The authority, indeed the duty of a sheriff so to do, and the right of deputies and individual citizens to shoot to kill when they find themselves threatened by union goons or other murderous criminals on lynching bent, has been forgotten but not impaired. The Buffalo sheriff should have selected a hundred or a thousand citizens, with a preference for combat veterans, and should have marched on the property and thrown the revolutionaries out. He had legal authority to kill. He should have rounded up all the criminals whom he could catch in the act, thrown them in some stockade and preceded them to the prosecutor under charges.

Had he done this, particularly if he had in the public interest, killed, say, 20 members of Philip Murray's own Ku Klux, he certainly would have been criticized severely. To face reality, he would have been indicted but acquitted. Governor Dewey, who had reminded him of his sworn duty to maintain peace even at the cost of maiming enemies of the government, undoubtedly would have led the pietistic chorus. The explanation is that union criminals enjoy a special privilege, though not a right to trample the rights of good men and to violate laws which their victims willingly obey.

Safety Council Seeks to Reduce Loss of Lives

The dreadful loss of 4,000 young lives in automobile accidents was the most important subject discussed at a recent meeting of the Ulster County Safety Council in the offices of the Red Cross. The information was contained in a letter received from the Division of Safety of the Executive Department of the State of New York. The members of the council felt that during this "back to school month" of September all citizens should take the utmost interest in "Child Safety" and help to reduce these casualties.

Vacation time is over and the children no longer in protected camps and sheltered homes are again on the streets and highways. This is the time for motorists to be more cautious and be watchful for children playing near traffic routes or scurrying about the streets from behind parked cars as though they were on their own playgrounds. The city and county authorities have established traffic signs and stop and warning and caution signs in dangerous places, painted "School Zone" on the roadway and erected "Speed Limit" markers for the protection of pedestrians and other motorists. A recent state law requires the motorist to stop whenever a school bus stops on the highway whether the automobile is approaching or following the bus. Don't take chances just because a state trooper is not following you for you may be the cause of the death of a child which might even be your own. In Kingston where there are no yellow lights be more careful than ever. Don't try to "jump" the light. There may be a child crossing the street concealed from you by another car, and don't stop and another car on the wrong side.

Parents and teachers can help in this campaign by explaining to the school children the new dangers to which they are exposed; especially those children who are attending school for the first time or who are entering high school where Broadway traffic is increasing by leaps and bounds. Motorists will find more bicycles on the highways and although riding on handlebars is forbidden, children continue to disobey, and the responsibility of the motorist becomes greater than ever. Where policemen and school patrols are stationed for the protection of the children they should be instructed to follow their directions. When they are not, then they should cross at an intersection where there are warning lights, but above all they should cross only on the green light and not try to weave in and out through traffic.

Pedestrians should not depend on the knowledge of the motorist and expect him to stop because the law gives the pedestrian the right of way. Most automobiles weigh nearly two tons and the touch of a fender may mean the loss of a life. On rainy days or when there is oil on the roadway an automobile may skid in spite of what the driver may do; so don't take chances. It is better to be with the sorry.

Schools open in Kingston on Tuesday next. It would be a sad ending to a pleasant vacation to have your child numbered among those who will never again see another school opening. Before they set out on Tuesday morning encourage in them a spirit of caution that may mean safety for them the rest of their lives.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 2.—I am a good friend of every wage-worker, having long been one myself. During World War 1, I was appointed by President Wilson at the request of Samuel Gompers, the then president of the American Federation of Labor, to be an assistant secretary of labor. I worked closely with the leading labor leaders for some time and became fond of them. I think they also respected me.

Clayton Anti-Trust Act

When the anti-trust legislation was enacted, I strongly favored the exemption of labor unions from the act. Management then was very strong; it fought both collective bargaining and manipulated prices. In eighty per cent of conflicting cases the courts ruled against labor when labor was only honestly endeavoring to improve conditions. The membership of all labor unions was then only about 1,000,000. Prices were being fixed; but wages and output were left to "supply and demand."

Today, the situation is wholly reversed. The labor unions number about 15,000,000. The courts are now more friendly to labor than to management. Collective bargaining is enforced by law. The fixing of prices or output by management is criminal; while the fixing of wages or output by labor is upheld by the courts. Therefore today, management instead of being top dog is the underdog. Consumers today suffer by fixed wages and output even more than they did by fixed prices.

Political Changes

Fifty years ago the political situation was vastly different. Senators then were not elected by the people, but were appointed by the governors. Hence, most of the senators were either officials of big corporations or wealthy men. The Supreme Court was then made up of great lawyers most of whom had previously served large corporations. There was no income tax in those days. All these things gave management an advantage over labor and explain why I felt labor unions should be exempt from the anti-trust law.

Today the senators are elected by popular vote. The Supreme Court consists mostly of men who were never officials of large corporations but mostly men in humble circumstances. In those days wage-workers usually voted with their employers; while today most of them think it's smart to vote directly contrary to what their employers recommend. Labor unions have much more power today than management had 50 years ago.

Small Businessmen

Those were days when every small businessman had a chance to become a big businessman. Today under the present income taxes it is very difficult for any small businessman to compete both against big business and big labor unions. Today the big corporations are "frozen" big; while the little businessmen are "frozen" little. If you have any doubts about this, write my friend, Ernest H. Gault of Haverhill, Massachusetts, who has made an intimate study of this situation.

Fifty years ago national advertising was unknown except in the case of patent medicines and there were only a few national weeklies, and they had small circulations. The Saturday Evening Post then had only a hundred thousand. As a result, advertising rates were low, and the small businessman could afford to advertise as well as the large corporation. Today advertising rates are 25 times what they were then. The small businessman cannot now afford national advertising as he is obliged to pay the same rates per page as the big operators.

What the Nation Needs

Today labor unions have a greater and more dangerous monopoly by fixing prices and output than management ever had. Hence, the anti-trust laws should now be amended to include labor unions and forbid the fixing of prices, wages or output. If the people, through their legal representatives, want to "fix minimums" this should be permissible, but only through proper legislation. Furthermore, if there need be any exemptions to the anti-trust laws, these should be in favor of the small businessman. He, today, is really in the same unfortunate position that labor unions were 50 years ago.

 Mistress—Why did you salt him in so many different places?
 Cook—He wouldn't stay in one room.

Harvest Ball Will Be Held Saturday

Woodstock, Sept. 2.—The Harvest Ball for the benefit of the Artists Welfare Fund promises from all reports to highlight the holiday week-end activities, and perhaps those of the entire season.

The ball will be held in the Maverick Concert Hall Saturday, September 3, beginning at 10 p. m. Numerous bids amounting to hundreds of dollars have already been received for the murals, created by some of America's outstanding painters, and which will adorn the walls of the Concert Hall throughout the evening. Before the playing of "Home Sweet Home," the murals will be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

This annual extremely colorful event has during the years brought notables from far afield to compete with the prominent and not so well-known localities in originality, color, and beauty, of the costumes worn on that evening. Although hundreds will attend it is some time before many are recognized because of the unusual creative ability and skill used in designing the costumes.

For the first time this year, the public is invited to attend. The number of tickets are limited but will be available at the Woodstock Art Gallery or may be purchased at the Concert Hall.

According to the latest reports one or more photographers from Life Magazine will be present and representatives from several New York publications will also be there to report this exciting event.

Prizes for various groups of costumes will be awarded. The judges will be announced this week.

Gonzales to Defend Local Golf Crown

Woodstock, Sept. 2.—Everything at the Woodstock Country Club this week is pointing toward the annual championship golf tournament which will be run in three flights Saturday, Sunday and Monday, September 3, 4 and 5 respectively with prizes and cups to be awarded to the winners of the individual flights. Boyer Gonzales, last year's champion, will defend his title this year.

At the annual meeting of the organization held last Saturday, Anthony J. DeLisio was re-elected president, Sam Wiley, secretary, and George Schwurzwald, treasurer. Floyd Parker was elected to replace Mike Peterson as vice president.

Three members were elected to the board of governors for a period of three years. They are Eugene Speicher, Charles Cooper and Lewis R. Wilson.

Several social events are being planned for the holiday week-end including the Saturday night dance, an outdoor picnic supper Sunday evening, and Monday evening, the club champion will be announced. Also, at that time the painting donated by Eugene Speicher will be auctioned.

The winners for the best costumes at the costume dance last Saturday night were Sally McCall, Andre Neher and Sandy Wilson. Loren Peters was chairman of the dance committee.

Riding Club Names Group for Show

Woodstock, Sept. 2.—Committees, judges and classes have been announced by Chairman Dr. Paul Perlman for the field day to be sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club on Sunday, September 11, at the club's Ohayo Mountain riding ring from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The judges who will officiate include Edward L. Chase, Mrs. Herbert J. Cutler, Wilma Hervey, Nan Mason, John Roosa, Cornelius Vanderlyn, Mrs. Ernest Muller, and Mrs. William Dexter. There will be nine morning events and 11 afternoon events. Cash awards and ribbons will be given to the winners of all classes with the exception of the horse-manship classes.

The morning classes are: Grand entry parade, three gaited saddle horse class, junior trail class for children under 14; senior trail class; road hack; bare back jump (2 feet to 2 feet 6 inches); low jump class (2 feet to 2 feet 6 inches); rumpage race; and trotting race (saddle) outside track.

The afternoon classes will begin at 1:30 and include costume or novelty class and parade; driving class; open jump at 3 feet start; musical chairs (children under 14); children's horsemanship (under 14 years of age); stock class; egg race; sulky race (stock v.s. saddle); and the parade of blue ribbon winners.

Entries should be sent to Mrs. Edmund Good, R.F.D. 4, Kingston, Box 75, no later than September 8.

The theme song of the field day event, will be "The Old Gray Mare" and the purpose said Dr. Perlman "is to have fun on horse."

back." Members of the Woodstock Chambers will be present for part of the day and entertain with their music. This event will be a contrast to the more formal horse shows sponsored by the organization as the activities committee will stress the informal keynote.

Assisting Chairman Perlman will be Ruth Bonesteel and Richard Shults. Other committees follow: Friolan VandeBogart, Jerry Jerominek, grounds; David Smith, Col. Hendry Torres, David Warren, ring stewards; Louise Van Wagoner, show treasurer; Mrs. Samuel Adams, publicity; Jack Ahorn and George Hard, announcers; the Mmes. Samuel Adams, George Hard, Leon Smith, ring clerks; Dr. A. Evans, veterinarian; Charles Kinrade, blacksmith; Mrs. Edmund Good, entrees; Barbara Herrick and League students, posters; Fred Shults, refreshments; Reggie Lapo and Mervin Doremus, first aid.

In case of rain, the field day will be postponed until September 18. The public is invited to attend. There will be a small admission charge.

Jones Paintings Now At Mitchell Gallery

Woodstock, Sept. 2.—Paintings being exhibited by Howard W. Jones at the Mitchell Gallery are entitled Motifs numbers 1 to 12 inclusive. The exhibition is open to the public daily to September 16 from 2 to 5 p. m. and 8 to 9 p. m.

Prior to serving for three and a half years as a fighter pilot in the U. S. Air Force during World War 2, this young artist attended Proctor Institute, Syracuse, Toledo, and Columbia Universities. Of his work he says, "I believe the inspirational or intuitive factor is the most important element in the production of art, a steady stream of work, I place a great deal of importance on automatic calligraphy. The brush, the knife, and the medium move more as they wish than being immediately led by my conscious mind. The experiences of my mind compose the picture, rather than immediate vision through the eye."

"I dislike style or method. To me it means a consciously worked out technique, a mass production of art as a commodity. I believe each painting should be a venture, a new venture, requiring new tools and possibly new medium, the solution is there in itself and not in yesterday's work."

Shakespeare Festival Coming to Playhouse

Woodstock, Sept. 2.—A Shakespeare festival will take place at the Woodstock Playhouse October 6, 7 and 8 when the Webster Shakespearean Company will present "Julius Caesar" and "The Taming of the Shrew."

Miss Webster, who as the daughter of Ben Webster and Dame May Whitty, has had a distinguished career as a director, especially of Shakespeare including the Maurice Evans "Richard 2" and "Hamlet."

Last year she brought together a group of actors, a scene designer, an impresario and a comedian, and they have decided to form a professional Shakespearean company to tour the high schools and colleges of the United States. Her idea has become a great success.

Puppet Show

Woodstock, Sept. 2.—The Children's Workshop sponsored by the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Weller, gave a puppet play on the terrace of the Guild centre today at 4 p. m. Another show is scheduled Saturday, September 3, at 11 a. m. There will be a small admission charge and the proceeds will be given for the Navajo Indian children. The public is invited to attend. There will also be an exhibition of work done by the children in the Workshop during the summer months.

Maverick Musical Is Well Received

Woodstock, Sept. 2.—An ambitious but successful production was presented at the Maverick Summer Theatre Wednesday evening with the opening performance of "Lady in the Dark," a two-act musical play by Moss Hart. It may well be considered ambitious because of the type of undertaking it is for the size of the Maverick stage. The production is presented in its entirety as it was first produced at the Alvin Theatre, New York, in 1941. It will continue at the Maverick through Tuesday evening, September 6.

The numerous changes in the production of the title role, were artistically sustained by June Glover as she was called upon to make rapid changes in mood consistent with age and occupation, during the process of being paychoanalyzed. Since the entire plot is built around Liza Jones, the Lady in the Dark, this all important part calls for facile manipulation and in its handling, June Glover never faltered.

Dwight Carlor as Charley Johnson, advertising manager for Liza Jones' publication and Delphina Brownlee, member of the staff and Liza's confidante, remained consistent in their performances. The part of the much sought after movie star, Charley Johnson, was done with excellent assurance by Tom Reddy.

In the lesser roles, adequately performed, were Richard S. Naudain as Dr. Brooks; Ronnie Sare, Allison DuBois, William C. Wilson, Russell Faxon; Mary Jane Finucan, Miss Bowers, Judy Miller, Miss Foster; Judy Small, Miss Stevens; and Roy Graves, Kendall Nesbitt. The beautiful models were impersonated by Marion Wahl, Phyllis Hoffman, Sally McCahill and Mary Jane Finucan. The office boys were Gordon and Donald Brownlee.

Of the 13 or more musical numbers, the audience showed particular appreciation for "Girl of the Moment" sung by Delphina Brownlee and the ensemble; "This Is New," Randy and Liza, "The Saga of Jenny," Liza, Judy and ensemble and "My Ship" sung by Liza. The lyrics are by Ira Gershwin and music by Kurt Weill.

Tom Reddy is responsible for the staging of "Lady in the Dark," interesting sets and lighting effects by J. Warren Johnson; vocal direction by Ronnie Sare and costumes were designed by Judy Small.

St. John's Fair Is Slated Saturday

Woodstock, Sept. 2.—Clementine Nessel, Kingston, will entertain with her accordion the hundreds expected to attend the annual fair sponsored by St. John's parish and which will be held in the Woodstock Town Hall, Saturday, September 3, from 12 noon to 5 p. m.

The final meeting of committees in charge of the fair was held at St. John's rectory with the Rev. James L. Riordan presiding. From reports heard, this year's event promises to outdo anything in the past. The only report not forthcoming was from the men of the parish who have labeled their table "surprise" but would comment no further.

The parish includes St. Joan of Arc Chapel, Woodstock; St. Augustine Chapel, West Shokan, and St. John's Church, West Hurley. The original posters seen throughout the township and elsewhere have been made by several local artists including Mary Townley, John Ruggles, Mercy Ann Hillman and Natalie Tepper.

They Went West

Frankfurt, Germany, Sept. 2 (AP)—Tens of thousands of Soviet-zone Germans took Horace Greely's advice yesterday and went west. They skipped Russian-sponsored "Peace Day" demonstrations in the Soviet zone for the opportunity to buy food, clothes and liquor in the western zones. More than 45,000 east Germans took advantage of Soviet radio-broadcast controls aimed at getting east Germans to come east for "Peace Day"—to swarm over in the opposite direction for a shopping spree. By nightfall most of them, loaded with food, clothing and in some cases just loaded, had returned to the Russian zone.

Fire Destroys Properties

Brookfield, Conn., Sept. 2 (AP)—Fire early today destroyed an estimated $100,000 worth of stage properties and scenery of the Nutmeg Playhouse here, a spokesman for the playhouse said. The blaze flattened a two-story wooden structure in which the theatre properties were kept, but did not damage the adjacent playhouse, he said.

ATOM SMASHER JOINS WAR ON CANCER—Doctors and scientists are anxiously awaiting results of the first use of a new 22,000,000-volt atom smasher to treat two cancer victims. At the University of Illinois College of Medicine, Chicago, laboratory assistant W. D. Davis, left above, uses a plaster cast of a patient's head to find the best position for use of the betatron, designed specifically for medical treatment. At right, a 72-year-old patient, suffering from cancer of the larynx, receives the betatron treatment from Dr. Roger A. Harvey. The patient's head is placed in a small opening of the betatron tube. Within the machine, atomic particles are whirled magnetically until they approach the speed of light. These particles, reflected against a metal plate, "splash" X-rays strong enough to pierce 20 inches of steel. These rays, doctors hope, will destroy or damage the cancer. Results of the treatment cannot be determined immediately.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Sept. 1 (AP)—The British dollar crisis could be solved if we would buy a lot more British goods. Then why don't we?

The simple fact is: You can't make an American buy a British product if he doesn't want to.

Very few persons buy a product in the spirit of doing good, or to use the international jargon, "helping to free world trade of its shackles." They buy because: They like the product, like the price, or need it and can't get it anywhere else.

There are things which could be done about these points by the top British officials on their way here now to discuss their lack of dollars. And there are things which could be done by the Washington officials who will confer with them.

Taking the last reason first, there are some products which the British effectively control for which there is a good market here: Natural rubber, tin, cocoa, fine wool, and Scotch whiskey. The British would like to see our tariffs lowered on these, and all other of their products saleable here. Neither the American wool industry, nor the domestic liquor industry, nor any other American manufacturer who makes goods in competition with the British, is likely to champion the British idea.

As for tin, rubber, cocoa and wool, the British would like to have Washington committed to buy fixed quantities at fixed prices for several years. American consumers and taxpayers might be dubious about shackling themselves to such a deal.

Americans have been very vocal in recent months in their opinion of British products and prices. From highest officials to lowliest backseat driver, they have told Britain what it should do.

First, it should learn more about American likes and dislikes, distributing, advertising and selling methods. Just how the resulting competition in our domestic market would set with American businessmen has generally been ignored.

Second, British prices must come down. Many Americans contend that British machinery is out of date and factory methods hide-bound and inefficient. They think the output per manhour is much too low in England. They contend that the British nationalization program is wasteful and uneconomic. And the three combine to make British prices too high.

And some Americans contend that the British must cheaper their money in terms of ours. This would make British goods lower priced, for us to buy with our dollars. However, it would also make just that much higher the price Britons must pay for American goods they must buy. And, since in July they bought four times as much from the United States as they sold here, the British contend they could only lose in the deal.

What are the things the British sell us? Our business slump has changed the pattern a little. Last year United Kingdom exports to the United States found whiskey bringing the British most dollars—$38 million. Raw materials (tin, rubber and the like) were next with $29 million; automobiles third with $22 million; woollens and worsteds fourth with $19 million; and machinery and agricultural tractors fifth with $12 million each.

That is why the British are clamoring for us to lower our tariffs even more, to pledge to take sizeable amounts of their goods, and to give them more credit or dollars.

Many Americans reply that sooner or later the British must improve their methods, lower their production costs and meet changing world trade conditions. Those things—no matter how much we help them financially from time to time—are things, many say, which the British must do for themselves.

Church Schools Plan Emphasis on Rally Day, September 25

Plans for Church School Rally Day Sunday, September 25, were discussed at the first full meeting of the Protestant Church School Council Wednesday night at the church house of the First Dutch Reformed Church. All of the churches uniting in the council will work together on a cooperative emphasis of the day. Suggestions were made to have another prominent speaker at a future meeting. It was also suggested that the schools affiliated hold a parent's visiting day.

MAKING SURE OF WEDDING ANSWERS

An occasional letter will ask: "We have to know how many guests to actually prepare for at our wedding reception because the hotel will charge us by the plate and, of course, for all preparations made, whether used or not they will send a bill. Would it be wrong to include R.s.v.p. on the reception invitations to be sure people answer?"

It is not only proper, but usual to add R.s.v.p. and an address to which replies are to be sent, if not the same as in the invitation. You could put "Please reply" instead of R.s.v.p. (It would be unusual but in your situation excusable) to italicize the word "Please.")

Who Is Calling?
Dear Mrs. Post: Should it be considered rude for a member of the family to ask "Who is calling in the house?" the person asked for in the house?

Answer: It is not at all rude to ask this. In fact, it is very usual when the voice is not recognized or the caller does not say who she is.

Sending Wedding Guests
Dear Mrs. Post: When a woman goes to a wedding with two men, what is the procedure of seating them? Is a man never escorted to his place by an usher?

Answer: The two men follow the usher and the woman. At the point it is correct to wait for the two men to enter first and give the woman the aisle seat. (This is never customary except at weddings.) Men guests, when alone, are escorted by ushers.

Business Entertaining
Dear Mrs. Post: Don't you agree that it would be more suitable to take a visiting business associate of my husband's, and his wife, to dinner in a restaurant than to have them here at home? I feel that it would be putting the evening on a more social basis to have them at home and, in this instance, we don't want the two to be confused.

Answer: It certainly would be less personal to take them out.

How to properly arrange the table for breakfast, luncheon, dinner and supper is described in Mrs. Post's booklet, No. 504, "Etiquette of Table Setting." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (in cash or check) to the publisher, The King's Crown Press, 100 N. York St., New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

St. James Church Announces Special Music for Sunday

Special music at St. James Methodist Church Sunday morning will include solos and ensemble numbers by members of the Woodstock String Quartet. This will mark the final Sunday of the summer union services for the Clinton Avenue and St. James Methodist Churches. The service will begin at 11 a. m.

Michael Tolomeo, second violinist of the quartet, will play as solo: Romance, Wieniawski, and Canonetta by Ambrosio. Engelbert Roentgen, cellist, will play Adagio by Haydn, and Leroy Davis, baritone of St. James sanctuary choir, will sing a setting of the 91st Psalm by MacWeird.

For the ensemble selection, Mr. Tolomeo, Mr. Roentgen, Miss Sass, pianist, and C. Franklin Pierce, organist, will play Mr. Roentgen's arrangement of Meditation by Bach.

The Rev. Merrill C. Johnson, pastor, will give the final sermon in the series of nature sermons.

Doris Terpening, Highland, Engaged

Highland, Sept. 2—Mrs. Elizabeth Terpening announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Doris Elizabeth Terpening, to William Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Warren, North road. The announcement was made Sunday at a party at the Terpening home. The wedding date is set for November 24.

Both young people are graduates of Highland High School. Miss Terpening is employed at DeLaval Plant, Poughkeepsie. Mr. Warren is employed by Royal Crown Soda Co.

Rudy Vallee and Psychology
Graduate to Wed Saturday
Oakland, Calif., Sept. 2 (AP)—Rudy Vallee has the preliminaries out of the way for his fourth marriage—this time to a 21-year-old University of California psychology graduate.

The 48-year-old orchestra leader and Eleanor Kathleen Norville of Berkeley, Calif., slipped quietly into the marriage bureau here yesterday for their license. They will be married Saturday night in Corpus Christi Catholic Church here. Friends said the church would recognize the marriage because:

Vallee's first marriage to Leona Gauchers was annulled. His second wife, Fay Webb, died after their divorce. His marriage to actress Jane Greer—they were divorced in 1944—was outside the Catholic Church.

Bees Ace Hurler First Righthander To Win 19 Games

Buddy Mahan Hits Homer for Locals

The Colonials ran into a history-making performance in Bridgeport last night when they ran into pitcher Phil Frick, first righthander in Colonial League history to win 19 games in the three-year history of the circuit.

Frick didn't finish the game for the seventh time in 29 starts but was credited with his 19th victory, 10 to 5.

Kingston returned home last night after an off night resume their final schedule Saturday night against the Bristol Owls. A fireworks display will be staged in conjunction with the ball game.

Close Labor Day
A single game against Bristol Sunday and a doubleheader with Waterbury on Labor Day winds up the hectic 1949 campaign.

Frick, who was sold to the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League on Wednesday, became the first righthander to have a season's span. He is expected to pitch one of the Labor Day games and if he wins it, he'll join southpaw Mike Kusch as the league's only 20-game winners.

Frank Demeri, Colonial starter, experienced a hectic night as he was shelled from the mound after yielding 10 hits and 10 runs in 6 2/3 innings. He picked up a couple of hits, including a triple, unworked two wild pitches and hit a batter and walking five. Francisco Sostre mopped up in flawless style.

Buddy Mahan launched Kingston's scoring with a smash over the right field fence in the second inning. He also had a single.

DuBois Winner

Bayonne, N. J., Sept. 2 (AP)—John DuBois, of Patterson, finished first in the 25-lap, five mile feature stock car race at Veterans Stadium last night. Next to finish were Charles Arnold, of Stamford, Conn., and John Hague of Freeport, N. Y.

Ryder Cup Golfers Bolstered by Steaks

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Little Ben Hogan and his American Ryder Cup golfers sail tomorrow night for Britain, lugging almost their own weight in ham and steaks to piece out the thin English meals.

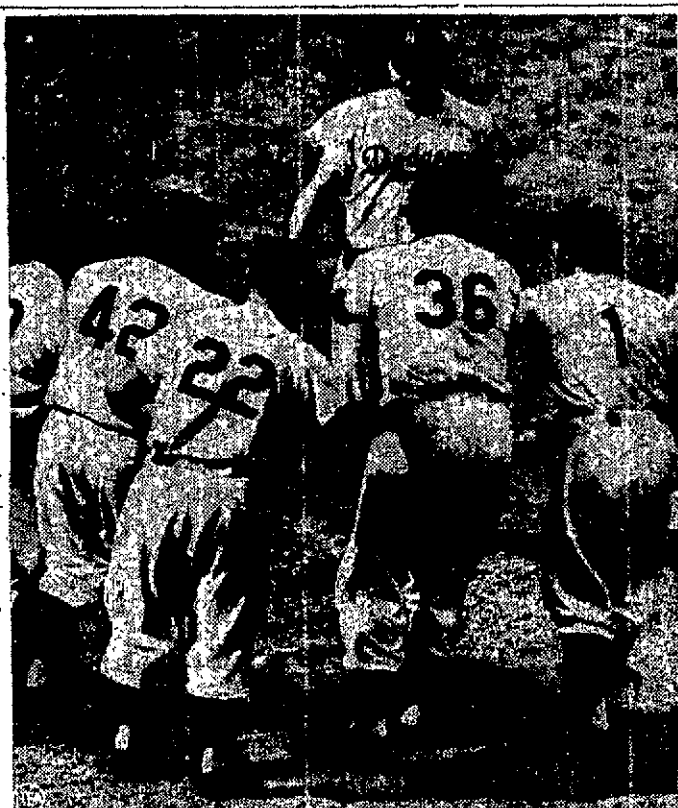

"We got a New York caterer to fix up the meat for us," Ben said in an interview. "We're taking 40 chunks of steaks—enough for about 600 steaks—and 12 sides of ribs for steaks. Besides that we've got 12 hams and 10 or 12 boxes of corn."

That sounds like a whale of a lot of meat, but almost all the American pros are taking their wives—and they'll be in Britain for a month, playing in the Masters tournament and the match play championship after the Cup scrap on Sept. 16-17.

"Besides," said Hogan, "we'd like to have the British players eat with us once in a while, although they didn't fraternize much with us when they were over here a couple of years ago and I don't know what arrangements they'll have this time."

The little master is captain of the Ryder Cup team, although he still can't play a lick of golf because of injuries he got in an auto crash last winter.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
The Redbirds are roosting pretty today.

Eddie Dyer's St. Louis Cardinals never were better off than they are right now. Not only are they leading the Brooklyn Dodgers by two full games, but the remaining schedule is all in their favor.

The Cards have 27 games left to play, and 18 of them are at home. On the other hand, the second place Brooks must play 17 of their remaining 27 games on foreign fields.

Furthermore, 13 of the Cards' games are against the seventh and eighth place Cincinnati and Chicago Cubs. They've already won 21 out of 31 from these basement bargains.

The Brooks have 13 to play with the third and fourth place Boston and New York teams. They've played under 500 ball against these first divisioners, winning 15 and losing 16 to the Giants and Braves.

In the American League, it is likely the seven games between the league leading New York Yankees and runner-up Boston Red Sox will settle the issue. The Red Sox trail the Yankees by three games. Their chances are not bright by any means, but they're not as dark as those of the Dodgers.

Boston plays 14 of its remaining 25 games at home, but the Yankees have 23 of their 29 games at friendly Yankee Stadium.

Runners-up Slow
Both runners-up lost ground yesterday. The Dodgers got off on the right foot, outscoring Cincinnati, 11-8, in the afternoon doubleheader of a day-night doubleheader (two admissions, if you please). The Reds bounced back, however, to upset the Brooks, 4-3, in the 10-inning nightcap. At the same time, the Cards were looking old the Phillies in Philadelphia to pick up half a length on the Brooks. Howie Pollet spun a five-hitter for his 17th victory.

The Red Sox led with their ace—20 game winner Mel Parnell—but they were trumped by the Detroit Tigers, who shut them out, 7-0, behind the seven-hit pitching of Art Houtteman.

The Yankees came through with their patented "squeaker," a wobbly 4-3 victory over the Browns in St. Louis. Tommy Byrne picked up his 12th victory but needed help from ace Freeman Joe Page in the ninth.

The Cleveland Indians, baseball marathon champs, won another overtime tussle, edging out the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-1, in 11 innings. It was the Indians' 17th straight overtime victory and their 18th in 19 extra-inning games.

Randy Gumpert pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 win over Washington. Dick Weik's 13 walks helped the White Sox no end.

Bristol Owls Repeat As Colonial Champs

(By The Associated Press)
The Bristol Owls were "in" today as pennant winners of the Class B Colonial League but Stamford and Bridgeport still were "fussing" and "feuding" about which would land in the runner-up spot.

The Owls defeated the Poughkeepsie Chiefs in a doubleheader last night to clinch their second successive pennant, 4-0 and 3-2. Two-time championship manager Al Barilari got striking pitching performances from Lou Cabrera and Paul Wargo in the double-dilly. Cabrera notched his 11th

The third place Boston Braves in the National whipped the Chicago Cubs, 8-4, as catcher Bill Skelid batted in five runs with a home run and two singles. Warren Spahn picked up his 17th pitching triumph.

Giants Trim Pirates
Despite Ralph Kiner's grand slam homer for Pittsburgh, the New York Giants defeated the Pirates, 9-5, on round trippers by Hank Thompson, Bobby Thomson and Billy Rigney. The Giants moved into fourth place, a half game over the Phils.

Burt Shotton, the usually mild-mannered manager of the Dodgers has chased out of a ball game for the first time in three seasons with the club. He got the thumb from Umpire Art Gore for protesting a ball and strike decision in the ninth inning of the opener. The Reds got four runs and had the tying runs on the bases in that frame, but Ralph Branca, fifth Dodger chucker, retired Walker Cooper for the third out.

Herm Wehmeier stopped the Dodgers' five-game winning streak in the nightcap. He gave up eight hits for his ninth win. A triple by Homer Howell, ex-Dodger, and Ted Kuszewski's double won for the Reds in the 10th.

Hand League Champs First Loss In 1949 Season

Subway Grill shattered the Royal Grill's 22-game winning streak in local softball circles by trouncing the city champions 9 to 3 in the third game of the post-season Shaughnessy playoffs.

A huge crowd saw Joe Amato and his teammates terminate the Royals' long domination of softball behind Amato's three hits, while the Subways pounded Don Weeks for eleven.

The Subways wasted no time in removing the aura of invincibility from the Royals, scoring a trio of tallies in each of the first three innings. They led 9-0 before the Royals pushed across three tallies in the fifth.

Subway baffled the Royals with several neat bunts and squeeze plays. Frank Spada tripped in the first inning to drive in two runs. Bob Schatzel, Al Hunt, Tom Spada and Joe Scholer collected two hits apiece for the winners, while Frank Bailey played an exceptional game in the field for the Lawmen.

Frank Sass led the Royals with two bingles and played a good all-round game.

Wiltwyck Money Backs Randall

Wiltwyck Golf Club followers of Leon Randall were reported today to have at least $1000 to lay on their club champion against Alvin Boice in the 36-hole city golf title match on Labor Day.

One prominent Wiltwyck pillar said he had $500 on Randall at even money. Twaalfskill followers were said to be raising a pool which they will wager on Boice "if the odds are right."

The match starts at 9 a. m. Monday at Twaalfskill and concludes at 2:30 p. m. at Wiltwyck. It is expected to attract the largest golf gallery in local history.

Shotton Gets Rare Heave-Ho From Umpire

Brooklyn, Sept. 2 (AP)—Being ordered off the bench by an umpire for the first time in his nine years as a big league manager did not prevent Burt Shotton of the Brooklyn Dodgers from taking a customary nap between day and night games yesterday.

"I didn't nap much," the usually mild Burt conceded, "but it wasn't because of that. Just had too many visitors."

Shotton was chased in the ninth inning of the 11-8 Dodger victory over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday after backing up Coach Jake Pitler on a disputed 3-and-2 decision by plate umpire Art Gore.

It was called a fourth ball pitched by Ed Fulton to Pounits Lowrey with two out in the ninth and it forced in the third of four Cincinnati runs in that frame.

"You missed that one," Pitler bellowed from the bench.

Gore removed his mask, walked half way to the Dodger bench and said:

"That's enough out of you. You're out."

"You're just trying to cover up your bad decisions," Shotton said.

Change in Clubs Cited as Reason For Bill Campbell's Golf Climb

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 2 (AP)—Bill Campbell, the par-busting law maker from Huntington, W. Va., had to lose his golf clubs to become a real threat in the U. S. Amateur championship.

"It happened in Chicago a year ago," the strapping former Princeton University athlete said in explaining why he's in the semi-finals today at Oak Hills.

"I had a set of specially built clubs, long ones to fit my size. They were swiped from my locker right after I'd won the Tam O'Shanter Amateur championship.

"I went down and bought a set of the racks. They're regular size, a bit small for me. But I find I'm closer to the ball. I don't get as much distance, but I'm far more accurate, and my game has improved."

Campbell, 26-year-old conservative Democrat member of the West Virginia Legislature, met Charlie Cox, the Walker Cup star from Oklahoma City in one-semifinal match today.

Turnesa Advances

Willie Turnesa, the 35-year-old titleholder from Elmford, N. Y., plays Rufus King, Wichita Falls, Tex., cattle man and tournament "dark horse" in the other 36-hole duel.

The survivors will clash over Oak Hills' 6,800 yards tomorrow for the 49th championship.

Campbell was the only man to equal par in yesterday's rain storm and 40 m.p.h. winds. He did it in eliminating Crawford Rainwater of Pensacola, Fla., in a fifth round match, 4 and 3. Later he defeated Julius Boros of West Hartford, Conn., one up.

Turnesa had some anxious moments in his sixth round match against Frank Strafaci of Flushing, N. Y., but overcame a two-hole deficit to win, 3 and 2.

King entered the semi-finals with a one-up victory over Harold D. Toddcock, Jr., of Aurora, Ill.

Cox gained the round of four after going 21 holes with Johnny Dawson, the 46-year-old Walker Cupper from Hollywood, Calif., winning when Dawson three-putted from 30 feet.

Big Blow Features Five-Run Rally

Rod Whitaker's three-run homer, a line drive that just cleared the left field corner of the snow fence at the 300-foot mark climaxed a wild five-run rally by Jones Dairy in the sixth inning and created a 6-5 deadlock between the Dairyman and Chez Emile in the third game of the City League's Shaughnessy playoffs, yesterday at the Athletic Field.

Bud Swarthout, veteran southpaw, had excelled in pitching and batting role, and had a 6-1 lead when the Dairyman came to bat for obviously the last time as the shadows were coming on.

A vital error by shortstop Vertetis gave the Dairyman the opening they needed, for Whitaker's homer followed shortly after Vertetis threw past second baseman Glaser, into right field on a sure DP ball.

The Phantom Shot

Tommy Maines, Charlie Nott and Andy Geluch contributed single, a big hobble and holder's choice aided in the game's finish. Whitaker, who was hitless in three previous trips, looked bad on one pitch, then "golfed" a low serve over the fence at the extreme corner of the field. It was a solid shot that sailed over the fence on a line before most of fans knew what had happened. Half of them didn't even see it in its trajectory.

The game was a heartbreaker for Chez Emile. As a matter of fact, it was the kind of contest that appeared to have been sailed away at least a half dozen times. They endured all sorts of extravaganzas like having two men thrown out at the plate in the same inning, dislodging the sacrifice bunt with two men on and no outs, and still came up with a 6-1 bulge in the last frame.

Widuburn Drubbed

Swarthout connected for a double and two singles and drove in a pair of runs in addition to his fine pitching. Bill Widuburn took a sound drubbing before Mr. Whitaker came along with the perfect wallop. Bobby Gil, Tommy Maines and Charlie Nott also had two hits each.

For his homer, Whitaker received $5 in cash from Jasper Martello; a carton of cigarettes by Len Skokler and a quart of ice cream by Ambrose Brothers. Whitaker also received $5 in cash donated by Frank O'Neil for the player hitting the most doubles during the week of August 22-26. The series resumes at 6 p. m. today with Tommy Fisher and Lefty Joe Jordan as the probable starters.

Can't Search Stomach

Says Federal Judge

Los Angeles, Sept. 3 (AP)—It's illegal to search a man's stomach for evidence, a federal judge has ruled.

After giving the opinion that such a procedure is "trial by ordeal," Judge Jacob Weinberger yesterday dismissed narcotics charges brought against Andrew Willis, whose stomach was searched.

Willis, 22-year-old laborer, was arrested July 26 by federal narcotics agents. He was taken to a hospital, strapped to a bed and a stomach pump was applied. Officers said they recovered two capsules of heroin by this method.

Judge Weinberger commented that this was "the most unusual procedure" he had ever heard of for obtaining evidence.

However Willis was immediately re-arrested by Los Angeles police on a state narcotics charge.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Received following letter from Della B. Clark of Stone Ridge:
"In an article in a recent issue of the Kingston Freeman you mentioned that you found that there was another John Vandervlyn, other the celebrated artist of that name. I wonder if you know that the other John Vandervlyn was nephew to the elder Vandervlyn."
"There are three family portraits in my home which were painted by John Vandervlyn, Jr., the nephew of John Vandervlyn, Sr. As a child I was told that John Vandervlyn came to our home to paint the portrait of our great grandmother. There are also portraits of a great aunt and uncle, painted a few years previous in their home on North Front street, Kingston, N. Y. All these are fine paintings, and have been much admired by many who have seen them. There is also a painting of a plate of apples which Mr. Vandervlyn painted while in our home, and gave to my mother who was then only six years old. This dates the painting of great grandmother's portrait as being 1857. (Elder Vandervlyn died in 1858). The others were painted a few years earlier. The picture of the plate of apples resembles one in the Senate House by John Vandervlyn entitled, "Still Life," except that in the latter picture there is also a glass of wine, and perhaps other fruit as well as apples. There is at least one drawing in the Senate House Museum ascribed to John Vandervlyn, Jr., nephew of John Vandervlyn, Sr. I am wondering who Catherine Vandervlyn, who is mentioned in a more recent issue of the Freeman may have been." Della Clark ends her letter.

According to Catherine Vandervlyn we are related to John Vandervlyn as her uncle. Another article contains more details on Catherine's will and relationship to other Vandervlyns.

Robert Matthews brought me a photograph of a portrait of John Vandervlyn, now at the Lyceum, which was held at Liscomb, Opera House (now Orpheum) on

ROSENDALE NEWS

To Meet Tuesday

Rosendale, Sept. 2—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Binnewater Fire Company will hold its next regularly scheduled meeting Tuesday, September 6 due to the Monday holiday. The meeting will be held at the Binnewater fire hall beginning at 8 p. m.

Bake Site Changed

The Democratic Club of Rosendale announces change of location for the first annual clam bake to be held Sunday, September 4. Due to the large number of reservations received, it has been found that Hardenburg Park is inadequate to accommodate the attendance anticipated. Therefore, the clam bake will be held at the Cedar Park House, Tilton, on the old state highway, Route 32. Over 100 tickets have been sold, and further reservations are expected. Gus O'Neill of Binnewater, president of the club, is in charge of arrangements for the affair.

School to Resume

Tilton School will reopen Tuesday, September 6, with a large, new playground which was installed during the summer vacation. Equipment includes six large swings, four kindergarten swings, a freshman jungle gym, coasts, slide with aluminum sides and four seesaws. There is also a large baseball field with a 20-foot backstop of heavy, foxproof wire. Future plans call for grandstand seats and other improvements. Funds for this purpose were provided by the school, $309.52 from the Town of Rosendale, $75 and from the New York State Youth Commission, $325.

Hogan Says O'Dwyer Wanted Broderick Out

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—District Attorney Frank Hogan says Mayor William O'Dwyer gave orders in 1947 to "get rid of" famed detective John J. Broderick—now trying to win midtown political leadership.

Hogan said yesterday that O'Dwyer ordered the police department to oust Broderick in 1947 and Police Commissioner Arthur Wallender had to threaten the detective with suspension before he finally applied for retirement.

The district attorney's statement came just a few hours after Broderick filed suit yesterday for $500,000 libel damages against Gerard V. Murphy, one of his opponents for Tammany Hall leadership in midtown New York.

Murphy has charged that Broderick, famous as a bare-knuckled gang-buster on the Broadway "bright lights squad," was ousted from the force for associating with Owney Madden and other racketeers.

Broderick says he left the department voluntarily so he could sell his life story to a movie firm which has already started filming the story.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Sept. 2.—The sum of $60 was realized by the Olive Public Health Nursing Committee at the recent food sale. The committee is deeply appreciative of the help given by numerous persons, including Mrs. George VanderOsten who donated room space and Charles Jackson who made the large advertising sign for the successful sale.

David Sussman has returned to his home in New York after having spent 10 days with his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Wohlberg, at the latter's apartment in the village center. Mr. Sussman, 82, was greatly pleased with Shokan and the reservoir country and he enjoyed several long walks around the countryside.

Emalissa C. Hamilton, who at the age of 99 is the oldest living member of the Stamford (Del. co.) Ladies' Aid Society, is another elderly person who takes the years in stride. The venerable lady upon the occasion of a party tendered her by the society, upon returning home following the festivities remarked, "well, I've had one happy afternoon if I never have another." Incidentally, at the party, the huge three-tiered birthday cake was included only in part among the other refreshments; the base was used and the two top layers presented to Mrs. Hamilton who also received aprons, handkerchiefs, cards and other gifts.

Regular Sunday preaching services in the Ashokan, Glenford and West Hurley Methodist Churches by the Rev. Milton Ryan will be resumed September 11.

Olive Republican voters will meet in caucus Saturday evening, September 10, at Odd Fellows Hall for the purpose of nominating the party's candidates for town offices.

Postmaster Betsy VanderOsten has received a supply of application forms for the use of World War 2 veterans in obtaining their national service life insurance.
